How did the Fund perform during the reporting period?

The Fund uses a proprietary model to quantitatively rank Exchange-Traded Funds (ETFs) on a risk-adjusted basis, constructing a diversified portfolio that reflects model strength. Our goal is to achieve equity returns with lower volatility than equity indices over a full market cycle. At the beginning of the fiscal year, the Fund had a 74% allocation in equities, 10% in fixed income, and 16% in cash and cash equivalents, with one-fifth of the portfolio in non-U.S. dollar holdings. By summer 2023, the Fund added international positions, and by September, one-third of the Fund was invested in international ETFs. In September, higher bond yields and a U.S. dollar rally caused market volatility, prompting the Fund to exit domestic and international equity and fixed income positions, increasing our cash holdings from 3% to 25%. By November 1, the Fund reduced equity exposure to 52% and held 48% in cash. The market rebound from the October lows caused the Fund to reinvest in multiple asset classes, including international and domestic equities and fixed income. By calendar year end, the Fund had an 86% allocation to equities, and by March, 91.5% of assets were in equity ETFs. Market strength ended in April, leading to de-risking of the portfolio. By the fiscal year end, the Fund held three asset classes with a 69.5% equity allocation, including both domestic and international ETFs, with the remainder in cash.
